NOVEMBER 6, ELECTION DAY CRITICAL FOR AMERICA

By Jack De Witt

On Tuesday, November 6, 2012, we at Request Foods can make a big difference for our Country. Over the past 40-50 years, some Americans have been slowly changing the culture and values of what made the U.S.A. so great. The past 4 years with President Obama, trying to lead and represent us, has been a complete failure.

Obama has brought our Country's debt to over 16 trillion dollars, and he has lost respect and credibility with other countries. He is the first U.S. President to publicly approve homosexual marriage and oppose the Federal Defense of Marriage Act. Over the past 40+ years, more than 40 million babies have been killed by abortion, which Obama wants our tax dollars to support. Obama wants a bigger government—not only in Washington—but he also wants all government agencies to expand and become more controlling. His agenda promotes more regulations and rules which makes it more difficult to start and grow businesses (such as Request Foods).

Obama wants to raise taxes so we have to pay more money toward Washington's spending; however, it's obvious that Washington needs to become smaller and spend less of our hard-earned money. Please also note that four years ago, gasoline was less than $2.00 per gallon. Today and over the past three years, it has been close to $4.00 per gallon.

What can we do? What am I going to do? I am going to vote on November 6 for new hope and change by voting for Mitt Romney, Paul Ryan, and Pete Hoekstra. I hope you will join with me, so we have a better America with less government, less taxes, less regulations, and lower gasoline prices. I believe that voting in these folks would also help lower the number of abortions and enable Request Foods to manage its own health care costs.

Also, thank you all for another great year at Request. May God bless each one of us, our families, Request Foods, and our great Country, the United States of America.
